

PICTORIAL REPORT OF WORLD'S NEWS OF THE DAY

THE DREADNOUGHT MONARCH LEAVING SOUTHAMPTON
On her way to the North Sea to join the British squadron. The Monarch is one of the most formidable warships in the British navy.

GERMAN SPY SHOT BY BRITISH
The scene of this tragedy cannot be identified as the censor blue-penciled the name of the locality. It is probably in northeastern France.

AFTER THE FIGHT AT DIXMUDE
The Germans at Dixmude have opposed the advance of the Allies, stubbornly contesting every yard of ground under cover of some farm buildings. Hard pressed, the Germans retreat into sheds where two of their number fell mortally wounded.

GERMANS FIRING AT ALLIES
At Dixmude there was a fight between two small opposing bodies, the Allies advancing in the face of a steady German fire.
